Subject: Export Transmission Service Tariff Study (SE-78) - Report to the Ontario Energy Board

This e-mail is being sent to the Export Transmission Tariff distribution list.

The IESO's final report to the Ontario Energy Board (OEB) was scheduled to be submitted on Friday, August 14, 2009. An input error to the quantitative analysis component of the study was discovered in late July. This required the IESO to perform significant additional work and has put the development of the formal report approximately two weeks behind schedule. As a result, the IESO has submitted a request to the OEB to grant an additional extension to August 28th, 2009. See attached.

Please note that the results presented in the final report and the presentation discussed during the August 10 conference call reflect the corrected values.

If you have any questions or concerns, please sent an e-mail to stakeholder.engagement@ieso.ca

Dear Ms. Walli:

Re: Export Transmission Service Tariff Study

The Independent Electricity System Operator (the "IESO") regrets to inform the Board of an anticipated further delay in the submission of its final report and recommendations in respect of the Export Transmission Service Tariff Study undertaken by the IESO. The IESO is in the process of completing its final report and recommendations. It is expected that this work will now be filed with the Board by August 28th, 2009.

Yours truly,

Carl Burrell
